

Part-time Graphic Design Student

Locally based national litigation services organization seeks graphic design student to assist in the evaluation, development, design and layout of corporate marketing materials, Web pages and publications. Looking for someone with the ability to be creative and think outside the “box” assisting management in initiating visual solutions to reach primary client base.

Prospects should be able to devote approximately 7 – 10 hours per week and be task oriented.

For an application, submit your resume along with hourly wage requirements, to dbusch@civiliationgroup.com.